LIQUOR CHARGES BRING FINES TO FOUR IN LISBON

Arrests Made by State And County Officers During Raids

Lisbon, August 26.—Out of 17 search and direct warrants charging offenses against the prohibition laws, returns have been made on 16 according to the records of Probate Court. Twelve of these warrants were returned and fines assessed by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle April 17, and last Saturday four additional fines of $200 and costs were charged against four East Liverpool men who had been rounded up by Sheriff W. J. Barlow and his deputies and given hearings Saturday afternoon.

Each of the defendants were charged with selling liquor Aug. 15, the affidavits having been filed by C. A. Boggs, a state prohibition inspector. The affidavits were filed Aug. 16.

Mose Watkins, Eighth street, East Liverpool entered a plea of guilty when arraigned and was fined $200 and costs which he immediately paid.

George Croxall of Rural Lane, East Liverpool entered a plea of guilty to a similar charge and was given a similar fine which he paid.

"There's a charge of selling against you," the court said to Dick Green, the elder of the quartette, and who resides in Rural Lane, East Liverpool.

"Guilty," came from Green.

"Want me to read the affidavit?" the court asked.

"Needn't mind," Green said slowly.

He was also fined $200 and costs amounting to $7.68.

John McFadden, Walnut and Railroad street, East Liverpool also entered a plea of guilty to a charge of selling, and he was fined $200 and like costs.

Green and McFadden were committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

WOMEN IN CASE OUT ON BOND

Change of Venue Is Granted; Trial On Today

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 26.—Without manacles or heavy guards, Fred Erwin Beal, fiery communist leader and twelve other strike agitators were whisked into Charlotte early today to stand trial for the murder of Police Chief O. F. Aderholdt of Gastonia.

They were brought here in automobiles from Gastonia, where they have been held without privilege of bond since the night of June 7 when the officer was shot and killed in a melee precipitated by a police raid on Loray mill strike headquarters.

Along with three women strike organizers and relief workers, they were indicted in Gastonia last month for first degree murder, a capital charge in North Carolina. However, the state announced it would not seek a first degree conviction against the three women and they were allowed to go free on $5,000 bond.

The trial of all sixteen of the accused slayers will get under way this forenoon in Charlotte's new million dollar temple of justice. The case was moved here on a change of venue, obtained by the defense on the ground that prejudice at Gastonia was so intense that it precluded "the faintest shadow of a fair trial."

Since they were admitted to bail, Vera Luch and Amy Schechter, two seasoned strike organizers and radical propagandists, have been in New York campaigning for contributions to the fund of the international labor defense which is directing their fight for acquittal.

Salem's Snake Mystery Near Solution; Reptile Captured

Three weeks ago employes at the plant of the National Sanitary company were startled to see one of their number rush from a store room, a la Charley Paddock, and come to a halt only when he found a substantial brick wall on the opposite side of the building barred his meteoric progress.

Workers gathered around the sprinter and after he had regained his speech and returned to normal complexion he managed to gasp out that he had seen a big snake.

Some of the listeners doubted faithful adherence to the eighteenth amendment, others suggested a rush trip to an optician, others did not voice opinions, as it would not seem polite as the man was really much disturbed.

All argued they were right in their contentions when a brief search failed to disclose a reptile.

But today the man stands vindicated and has regained prestige among his fellow workers, for the snake has been discovered.

It is a snake too, and not one of the ordinary kind that is greeted with shrieks at a picnic for is this chap had grown a scant seven inches more it would be six feet long.

Can you blame the finder for any disregard of speed laws?

Several of Salem's snake experts, judges of material snakes have viewed the visitor in the cage in which he now resposes and shake their heads. Breed and pedigree are unknown.

One who sought to establish identity brought along a large volume in case it was beyond ready knowledge. The book was consulted after the first glance, and still a doubt as to the nationality, habits and temperaments of the reptile exists.

AMERICANS DIE IN JERUSALEM RELIGIOUS RIOT

Death Toll Is Mounting Rapidly; Nearly 100 Killed

BRITISH TROOPS RUSH TO SCENE

More War Ships; Soldiers Sent to Palestine By Government

Jerusalem, Aug. 26.—Twenty American Jewish students were among the 70 Jews killed in fighting with moslems at Hebron, according to information received here this afternoon.

Jerusalem, Aug. 26.—The bloody inter-racial rioting between Arabs and Jews throughout Palestine entered a phase fraught with serious complications today as a result of the Moslem attack upon the Slobodka Rabbinical college at Hebron, in which an undetermined number of students, including 12 Americans, were stabbed or beaten to death.

The sudden attack upon the Slobodka college followed three days of sporadic fighting between the two religious factions, and although no adequate check-up has as yet been possible, it is reported that 65 Jews and scores of Arabs have met death in the riots.

Jerusalem is in a state of martial law, with a detachment of 650 British troops from Egypt reinforcing the local police guard to maintain order. Armed rule has also been extended to Hebron, and additional troops are expected shortly.

Originally ascribed to the long-standing dispute between Arabs and Jews over the right of the latter to worship at the famous Wailing Wall in Jerusalem, the riots assumed new significance today with allegations that Communistic propaganda were responsible for the unrest.

Although the crisis now appears to be past, the situation is still tense in the extreme. British troops have not relaxed in their efforts to quell the disturbance completely.

London Aug. 26.—The British destroyers Veteran and Wanderer sailed from Malta today, according to an exchange Telegraph Dispatch from Malta, bound for Palestine to help quell the Moslem-Jewish rioting.

H. M. S. Courageous sailed from Malta at 9 a. m. for Palestine with the second battalion of the South Staffordshire regiment, according to a dispatch from Malta. The Courageous is an aircraft carrier.

VETERANS MEET FOR CONVENTION

Akron Host To Legion Throng; Elections Scheduled

Akron, O., Aug. 26.—Attorney O. J. Daily of Akron, and Dudley White of Toledo, appeared the most logical candidates for the office of state commander of the American Legion, as the organization's delegates gathered here today for the annual state convention.

The candidates have not yet been officially announced. Daily was formerly active in legion work in Cleveland and is widely known in legion circles throughout the state. White is chairman of the northwest district. Leo Bietz of Kent, is another likely candidate.

A parade hits afternoon was the feature event scheduled on today's program. More than 24 bands, thousands of marchers and a number of elaborate floats are expected to make the parade one of the finest in the history of the state legion.

"La Societe De 40 Hommes Et 8 Chevaux," the fun-branch of the ex-doughboys, will swing into action today with their initiation ceremonies.

Air Racer To Wed Walter Camp

RUTH ELDER lost the Air Derby, but she'll win a husband, anyhow, so she is naturally elated. It all happened very suddenly. Just as she was about to hop off from the Los Angeles airport, Walter Camp, Jr., son of the noted football coach, popped the question. Her plane took off before she had a chance to reply, so when she got to San Bernardino, her first stop, she wired Walter "OKAY"—and that's how it is with impetuous youth.

The line will then extend south to Signal where connections can be made with the P. L. & W.

Completion of this project would result in a new rail opening to the Ohio River for Youngstown industries. These industries have desired such a route for several years.

Ohio State Fair Opens With Great Throng Attending

Ohio State Fair Grounds, Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—Even the sun beamed forth a welcome when this 115-acre plot of exhibitions was thrown open to Ohio State Fair visitors today.

The temperature hovered around 81 degrees and it is expected to climb to 85 during the afternoon. It was an ideal summer day, though, perhaps, a trifle warm.

It was estimated that 25,000 persons had passed through the turnstiles at noon today.

Perry L. Green, state director of agriculture and head of this $100,000,000 exposition, declared he expected a crowd numbering 50,000 people this afternoon and possibly 75,000 tonight. He added that the number was unusually high for the first day of Ohio's "Mardi Gras."

A "tent city" has sprung up within the grounds. About 125 persons are living under canvas. Electric lights and running water are in each of the tents.

Picking out a man at random, a reporter asked him about the fair. The accosted man was about 65 years of age, gray-haired and apparently a farmer.

He said his name was Frank Wolfe and that he motored here from High Land, Indiana, for the "big show."

And he was strong in praise of his trusty motor car. That was not so unusual, but Wolfe's car was an old 1899 model Zimmerman, a car which has not been manufactured for years.

Wolfe said he had been offered two new small cars for it, but he won't trade. He said, "it gets me there and brings me back."

"I'm having the time of my life," he opined.

GIANT DIRIGIBLE COMPLETES TRIP ACROSS PACIFIC

Will Fly Southern Route Over United States; May Touch Ohio

WEATHER IDEAL FOR LANDING ON COAST

Radio Gives World News Of Arrival Of Giantress

Mines Field, Los Angeles, Aug. 26.—Finally completing its 5,400 mile flight from Japan to Los Angeles, the third leg of its cruise around the world the Graf Zeppelin today settled safely here at 5:18 a. m., (8:18 a. m., Salem time).

At 5:10 a. m. the ground crew under command of Lieut. Commander F. G. W. Settle, took up their appointed posts ready to bring the dirigible to earth and "walk" it to the 60-foot mooring mast at the southeast end of the field.

At 5:12 the zeppelin had come very slowly over the field at an altitude of hardly more than 300 feet. Two frightened birds flew rapidly in front of it.

The Zeppelin's motors were throttled down and it had almost the appearance of standing still, yet its powerful motors echoed and re-echoed across the open space. It began nosing slowly down toward the mooring mast and at 5:14 all motors were shut off for a few seconds and then only the staccato of one motor was heard.

Apparently not wanting to chance a landing in the fog Dr. Eckener again turned on all motors, only to shut them off again.

Flies Over Los Angeles

The Zeppelin came from Los Angeles in a southwesterly direction, after having flown over the city where it was received with a tumult of factory whistles, automobile horns and shouts.

A slight wind was blowing across the field and a slight fog at an altitude of 3,500 feet.

These weather conditions made it ideal for the Zeppelin to land, but it was announced that a descent would not be attempted before 4:30 o'clock.

Herbert Hoover, Jr., who flew here from Kansas City, Mo., early in the evening took off in a commercial plane and flew 50 miles north in an attempt to broadcast over low-wave set.

He was unable, he said on returning to the field, to contact with the ship.

The arrival of the Zeppelin was broadcast from Mines field and picked up by low wave length stations in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Schenectady, N. Y., for re-broadcasting to Germany and Europe generally, South America, Australia and Japan.

Several United States naval planes came to earth shortly after the Zeppelin passed over Mines field and reported that passengers were at windows of the main gondola and waved newspapers and handkerchiefs.

Naval Planes Escort

On each side of the dirigible as it passed on to show itself to small cities around Los Angeles, were a score of naval planes to protect it from adventurous private fliers.

It was undetermined early today how long the Zeppelin would remain in Los Angeles. This, officials said would depend upon Dr. Eckener himself and the length of time necessary to refuel the giant ship.

Special pipe lines have been laid to refuel the ship as quickly as possible, but this, it was estimated, would require at least two days.

When the Zeppelin departs it is expected to take a southerly course, via Fort Worth, Texas, where a mooring mast has been erected and the Zeppelin is scheduled to stop.

From Fort Worth the direction of the ship will be at the discretion of the commander, contingent upon weather conditions. If fair weather prevails it will go on to Birmingham, Ala., and then northward to Lakehurst. If weather conditions are unfavorable, the Zeppelin will follow the air mail route to Cincinnati, Ohio.

Ford Planning On Big Aviation Hotel

Cleveland, Aug. 26.—Henry Ford, multi-millionaire automobile magnate, is planning to construct the first aviation hotel in the world on a plot of ground adjoining his stout aircraft factory in Detroit, an official of the Ford Motor Works informed International News Service here today.

The hotel, the plans for which are now being drafted by architects, will be an elaborate structure costing several millions of dollars.

Ford, according to his associates, believes that hotels devoted exclusively to aviation and its affiliated interests will soon be a necessary part of every well equipped airport.

A REAL PROBLEM

The borough of Queens in New York has detailed two special police squads to trace down owners of automobiles abandoned on the streets and vacant lots of their territory. More than 5,000 ancient vehicles have been carted away since last May and the cost is becoming too great for the borough to handle alone. It is the purpose of the police to force the former owners of the derelicts to help pay for their removal.

The used car question becomes more and more acute, as manufacturers flood the country with millions of cars of all prices and descriptions. Prices have become so low that resale values, especially on antiquated models, have slumped and made a situation where abandonment is almost a necessity at a certain stage of the game. A crowded city offers few opportunities to do this gracefully, hence the problem in Queens.

The used automobile baffles human ingenuity. Even when torn down, there remain certain bulky parts to be disposed of, and of such a nature that no adaption is evident. There are many points of comparison to the razor blade, an article so small that abandonment on the street is silly, but so sharp that abandonment in the house is dangerous.

Used hot water tanks have been converted into flower pots. Worn-out inner tubes are hung on a rope and used for swings. Pop bottles are filled with home brew. Discarded clothing is shipped to the Armenians. But what is to be done with the used car? A fortune awaits the person who answers that question.

A maltese cat carried in a car 210 miles to Mariaville, New York, July 20, lingered there for three days and then disappeared to reappear August 14 walking up the driveway of its home in Kenilworth, New Jersey. Cats will do it.

Raymond Moley says that "you can prove anything if you get the right statistician," from which we just naturally assume that the statisticians are twin brothers to the alienists who figure in murder trials.

Clarence Darrow says that it's a pretty good thing in this world to mind your own business "if you have any." That's the trouble. There are so many people who haven't any who are ready and anxious to handle yours.

In the light of its provision for a $9,000,000 loan to the California grape interests, the federal farm board can hardly hope for support hereafter from the ultra dry element. It's not built to overlook a betrayal like that.

A writer claims that young women may become beautiful by singing. Maybe so, but a beautification process like that is liable to prove an awful hardship on the neighbors.

What Others Say

WILD DRIVERS

What causes automobile accidents? An answer to this query was in a large measure, presented in an article in a magazine recently.

These statistics deal only with the so-called mechanical equation, as it covers not accidents, but condition of care in operation.

Admittedly, the great majority of accidents are chargeable to the drivers or owners of cars, who either do not exercise due care or are incompetent, and in either case reckless.

In this age, it is speed, more speed and still more speed on the highways. Automobile manufacturers are striving constantly to satisfy the public appetite with machines that will travel faster and yet faster.

The result is a vehicle which is capable of racing along the public roads at a rate not even attempted by the fastest passenger trains in the country.

The railroad train travels on a track as smooth, straight and secure as engineering and workmanship can make it, while an automobile dashes along over all kinds of roads, the smoothest of which are by no stretch of imagination as safe for speed as the roughest railroad track now in use.

The engineer of a locomotive drawing a passenger train is a veteran in the railroad service. He has served a long apprenticeship. He is a man of correct habits, keen eye, iron nerve and unimpaired physique. He knows his engine and can detect the slightest imperfection in its operation at any and all times. When he is at the throttle, he realizes his responsibility to the point of attending absolutely to his business. He isn't viewing the scenery; he isn't doing any one-hand driving or speeding stunts; he has no back seat advisers; he is not on a joy ride; in the slang phrase of the hour, he isn't making any kind of whoopee. His eyes, his mind, his hands, all his physical and mental being, in fact are on his job. Further, at the end of his run he takes his machine into the shops where skilled mechanics go over it with a critical eye.

But not so with the automobile driver. Perhaps one in a thousand is as skilled as the locomotive engineer. The motorist has traffic to contend with. He goes at a speed of a mile a minute. He hasn't even a clear track ahead; he must look out lest he "meet a fool," possibly several of them.

He does this day in and day out and when does he take his car to the shops? Not so long as it will run.

It may have defective brakes, or no brakes at all, as the "Save-a-Life" campaigns have discovered. Its headlights may be cockeyed, which is pleasant for approaching drivers, or they may be so badly out of repair in some other way as to be worthless. The steering mechanism may be imperfect and goodness knows this part of his machine should be in top order, and so on.

Is it anly wonder then that we have automobile accidents?

In the "Save-a-Life" campaigns, the findings show 40 per cent, nearly half, of the automobiles are unfit mechanically to be on the roads.

If these campaigns and other drives for safer travel on the highways succeed in making sensible drivers care conscious, one of the great problems of the day will be on its way to solution. The "fool driver" then will be removed from the highways by his own acts.—Federation News.

RIGHT LIVING BRINGS POISE AND CONTROL

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

How much thought do you give to the protection of your nervous system? Do you lead such a life as to build up and strengthen your brain and nerves? Or, on the contrary, are you gradually destroying your nervous system?

It is not difficult to determine something of the nervous make-up of the driver of an automobile. Much can be learned by observation even of an experienced driver. Speed mania, for example, is frequently a symptom of an irritable and overworked nervous system.

One of the most important things in the world is the development of poise. The lack of it is a good deal like the absence of a balance wheel in a watch. Without poise and mental balance the individual runs wild. It takes a lot more poise to be a conservative than it does to be a radical of the radicals.

I wish there were some effective way to drill into the human family the importance of patience. Impatience and the need that goes with it are responsible for most of the unhappiness and many of the accidents today.

It pays to take care of the nervous system. You are abusing it if you do not get sufficient fresh air, sleep, sunshine and a reasonable amount of exercise. These are essential to your nervous well-being.

But we must not stop here. The nervous system is not well cared for unless the body is properly nourished. This part of the body is so complex in its nature that it will suffer greatly if it is not supplied with an abundance of pure rich blood.

Almost every day, somebody asks me, "What is a good tonic for the blood?" The answer is: Good blood is not supplied by the drug store. It does not come in bottles, boxes or powder papers. Good blood depends upon an abundance of good food. It depends upon exercise and the observance of the rules of hygiene.

If you would have a normal nervous system, perfect control of the emotions and that precious possession known as poise, you must have good blood and practice the rules of right living.

Answers to Health Queries

E. N. Q—What can be done for indigestion and gases the trouble occurs only after eating and often causes severe pain?

A—Correct the diet, avoiding too many rich, sweet foods and keep the system clear. The food does not digest, fermenting and causing acidity in the system.

T. Y. Q—Would the sniffing of salt water for the purpose of cleansing the nostrils prove injurious to the hearing or in any other way?

2—Is it necessary to see a physician in order to locate the cause of unpleasant breath and to determine the necessary treatment?

A—Yes, it may—if the nasal passages need cleaning you should have proper treatment advised.

2—Not under ordinary circumstances—the teeth, tonsils, catarrh, constipation or some other intestinal disturbance are all possible causes—the treatment will probably suggest itself, when the trouble has been located.

W. H. Q—My one-year-old daughter has whooping cough. What do you advise?

A—Whooping cough must take its course, lasting from six to eight weeks. The choking spells can be relieved by vaccine treatments. The child should be kept out in the fresh air and sunshine, given nourish foods. See that the bowels are in good condition.

A. E. Q—What do you advise for varicose veins?

A—Wearing an elastic stocking is often effective, but in most cases surgical procedure is necessary. Applications of warm witch hazel are beneficial in some instances.

The Stars Say —

For Tuesday, August 27

An active and eventful day is forecast by the interesting positions of the ruling planets. There is augury of bold enterprise, with sudden and probably radical change or travel in connection therewith. Yet there is need for discretion in all activity, and those in employment are particularly enjoined to "be wise." Personal affairs will be pleasant.

Those whose birthday it is are endowed by a very lively year, with much enterprise and possible moving about and new arrangements. But a degree of precaution is needed for successful launching of new projects and those in employment should safeguard their positions. Domestic and affectional relations as well as social and artistic are under good sway. A child born on this day will be artistic, enterprising, resourceful and versatile. Its personal life should be happy, but in employment it may meet opposition or friction.

It is the mind that maketh good or ill, that maketh wretched or happy, rich or poor.—Spenser.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Aug. 26.—Salt water chic means comfort as well this season at smart French resorts. For fashionable bathing suits of the moment are not only good to look at but good to feel.

They are warm and cozy and cut to give the greatest freedom for real exercise which, astonishing as one may find it, dainty French women seem to be after these days. "Don't go near the water" warnings go unheeded. They are all out to swim. And for such strenuous exercise, the one-piece suit is second to none.

It is brightened up this year by modern geometric motifs in all colors. One in wool jersey recently seen at Le Touquet has a lovely deep sea rhythym in green, yellow and white with a white jersey belt. It has the sunburn decolletage in back and modest V in front.

Summer jersey in very bright shades makes some very chic salt water suits and one dressmaker is showing one in water proof taffeta which is very popualr. Another dealer uses black and white jersey in broad swathes to make a striking bath ensemble and another in black impermeable alpaca which is very comly on cool mornings. It has a flaring skirt and bright yellow yoke around the deep cut back.

Caps come in rubber or wool jersey to match the coat and there are also big handkerchiefs of rubberized crepe de chine to tie in fantastic manner. Very original bathing shoes are knitted like men's socks and attached to rubber soles. Flowered striped and checked rubber makes other slippers which can be worn in or out of the water. The newest sandals have cork soles and rubber straps to hold them close to the feet.

Observe Day

Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Edington, who celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary here yesterday, acted as best man and bridesmaid at their daughter's wedding then. The daughter, Miss Mary Edington, 30, became the bride of Frank Hudson, 26.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

"Dust is good for books," said the man who owned a bigger library than he could care for, as he apologetically blew a cloud off a volume he drew from the shelf. And we felt like answering—"yes, just like cigaret ashes are good for Oriental rugs." (Which is the way a careless guest always tries to be nonchalant when caught in the act).

I have yet to see a book the appearance or contents of which were improved by dust. On the contrary, the true book-lover resents dust as he would smudges or dog-eared and torn pages.

But keeping books clean—that is another matter. Especially when the collection grows and grows and grows—as of course, it should.

The practical thing is to keep them behind closed (but locked) doors. That's some protection. But it somehow shuts the books out of the room. They are made remote.

Glassed-in books are not tempting. They lack the homey, inviting quality of books spread on open shelves. Open shelves are friendly, encouraging, but alas, they gather dust as well as readers.

So one must choose—keep books clean but less accessible behind closed doors. Or expose them on open shelves and resign oneself to lots of dusting. A dustless duster is a great help. Some of them come on short wire handles, and if kept exclusively for books they help one perform the job in a short time. A few vigorous sweeps over the tops of shelves or books every few days and they are kept in fairly clean condition.

Or the blowing attachment on the vacuum cleaner can be put into action. This, of course, blows off the dust from the books to another spot, doesn't absorb dust like the chemically treated dust cloth. But it does the work more quickly.

TARIFF BATTLE PROBLEMS ARISE

Complete Wreck of Plan Looms As Parties Wrangle

Washington, Aug. 26 — President Hoover who summoned congress into special session for farm relief and tariff revision, may be forced to drastic action to save the increased protection given American agriculture in the administration's new tariff bill, it appeared today.

The threats of Republican leaders to abandon the bill if it is not a law by Jan. 1, provoked retorts from Democratic leaders that they would not be coerced into haphazard acceptance of the new measure. All signs on Capitol Hill consequently pointed to a protracted struggle in the senate over the bill and its 21,000 tariff rates — a struggle that may well carry into the new year and lead to abandonment of all tariff revision.

The president may be forced to take his choice between abandonment of the bill in its entirety and abandonment of all increases in industrial rates. Both insurgents and Democrats have indicated they would accept all increases in agricultural rates virtually without debate and senators from each group have announced they would sponsor resolutions to strike out the industrial schedules. If the president should reaffirm his old announcement that tariff revision be limited to agricultural products, a few closely related subjects and those industries urgently needing greater protection, he might be able to shorten the senate warfare.

Plan Aerial Cable For Glacier Point

Yosemite National Park, Aug. 26. —An aerial cableways system may soon link the far-famed and lofty Glacier Point, the most celebrated precipice of gorgeous Yosemite, with the floor of the valley 3234 feet below.

While no action has yet been taken officials of the park, the chief scene wonder of the Pacific coast, said that they have been studying the various tramways in an effort to settle upon a safe, inexpensive means of transportation between the two places.

At present, Glacier Point is only reached by climbing a steep zigzag and somewhat perilous trail, or by a roundabout mountain road for autoists.

An aerial cableway, first used in the higher regions of Germany in 1925, and now installed in the Alps in Switzerland, in Spain, in Sweden and South Africa, has been suggested as the most logical for Yosemite.

COXEY HEADING TO WASHINGTON

Army Passes Through Salem; Daughter On Tour

Massillon, O., Aug. 26.—General Jacob S. Coxey, and his famous "army", composed of an automobile caravan crusading in behalf of the unemployed, today was moving eastward to Washington.

The leader started his parade Saturday after two public speeches and a parade through the streets of Massillon.

Coxey's tour through more than a dozen states is to campaign in behalf of his plan for non-interest bearing bonds to pay for city, state and county improvements.

Sayre and Athens, Pa., the "twin cities" in the district of Representative Louis T. McFadden, chairman of the banking and currency committee in the house, will be the next stop of the army.

Ruth Patricia Coxey, pretty daughter of the "general", is traveling with her father and will make several speeches. She was formerly a "show girl" in the cast of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat" on Broadway.

The army passed through Salem last evening on the first leg of its tour.

Babe Ruth Leads In Race For Home Run Laurels

By HENRY McLEMORE

New York, Aug. 26.—Despite the miserable showing of the Yankees on their recently completed tour of the west during which time they lost eleven of sixteen games played, Babe Ruth, no doubt, considers the tour a highly successful one.

For the jaunt that ended in St. Louis yesterday saw the Babe drive back the pretenders to his throne and climb back into the lead of the home run race—a race that Mr. Ruth considers a purely Ruthian affair.

Two mighty homers, his thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth of the year, today gives the Babe a lead of two over Chuck Klein and Hack Wilson. Babe's blows ended the Yanks thirty-two innings of scoreless endeavor but were not sufficient to prevent the Browns from winning again, this time by 3 to 2.

Philadelphia continued to slumber peacefully, getting but four hits off Alphonse Thomas as the White Sox licked them, 3 to 0. More than 20,000 fans looked on as the Sox made it three out of four over the league-leaders.

Boston, by splitting a double-header with the Indians, concluded an amazing western trip with a record of twelve victories in eighteen starts. They won all four of their series during the trip. Wes Ferrell, sensational young Indian flinger, chalked up his fifteenth win as the tribe took the first game, 5 to 4. The Red Sox took the second, 5 to 3, thanks to a three run rally in the ninth.

Detroit eked out an 8 to 7 win over Washington after eleven innings of battling.

Pittsburgh and New York continued their own private battle for second place honors. The Giants trimmed the Bucs again yesterday and are now but three games in the rear. Bill Terry smacked two singles to tie Lefty O'Doul with 191 for hits made this season.

While police reserves twiddled their thumbs and Cincinnati's largest crowd in history looked on, the Reds and Cubs managed to split a double-header without a recurrence of the Wilson-Kolp-Donohue affair. Cincinnati took the opener, 6 to 3. Chicago winning the closing affair, 10 to 1. Red Lucas scored his 17th win of the season and Guy Bush his 18th.

Activities On Ohio Farms

Doings Of People In Columbiana And Nearby Counties---Crop Data

TOURS PLANNED BY FARM AGENT

Two tours are being planned by County Agent Floyd Lower for county farmers during September and October. A soils and crops tour of Butler township is scheduled for Sept. 3, and a poultry tour is being planned for October.

There were 75 potato growers at the inspection of the potato crop on the Wilderson farm on the Leetonia-Leetonia rd. last Friday, and 70 attended the vegetable demonstration at Canfield Friday afternoon. The Columbiana county caravan into Mahoning county was led by Mr. Lower.

SECOND TUBERCULIN TEST SCHEDULED

The second cattle tuberculin test will begin in Columbiana county about Sept. 15 it has been determined, when eight state veterinarians and 10 county veterinarians will go into the field. This test work was definitely determined at a meeting of the Columbiana County Tuberculin Eradication league at which 65 herd owners attended and discussed the tuberculin test work with State Veterinarian Dr. C. McCandless, of Columbus, and a former resident of Lisbon.

According to the latest tax return reports available, there are 19,421 head of cattle in Columbiana, and the valuation of this stock has been placed at $895,160.

Petitions are now being circulated among the herd owners of the county petitioning for the second test, and it is considered likely that because of the elimination of "T. B." cattle during the test three years ago that only one test will be required this year. It is admitted, however, that in some instances it will require a second test where reactors are located.

Work By Townships

Testers will work by townships, and it has been proposed to go over the county once within 60 days. The three year limit for the accredited area will expire March 1 next.

It has been exclaimed that the indemity fund for the eradication of cattle within Ohio now amounts to $1,400,000 and $400,000 of this amount has been apportioned Ohio by the federal government. The remainder has been provided by the state.

In the event that registered cattle is condemned, the claim for indemnity must be accompanied by such registration files. It has been explained, however, that in no event will an indemnity of more than $149 per head be paid the owner.

Not only will cattle in the rural communities be tested, but those also in municipalities, for be it known that there are 25 head of cattle within the municipal limits of Salem and 21 in East Liverpool. Other cattle in municipalities has been listed as follows:

Columbiana corporation 15 head; East Palestine 21; Hanoverton 23; Lisbon 4; Leetonia 59; New Waterford 15; Rogers 5; Salineville 50; Washintonville 7; Wellsville 11.

The township cattle record is as follows:

Butler 2,283 head; Knox 2,254; Center 1,123; Fairfield 1,726; Franklin 428; Hanover 1,240; Liverpool 251; Madison 723; Middleton 702; Perry 673; Salem 1,377; St. Clair 798; Unity 1,535; West 1,597; Wayne 527; Washington 252; Yellow Creek 467.

Cattle in Knox township has the highest value, this being placed at $124,780 and that in Butler township at $116,210.

The state and federal governments each pay one-third of the difference between the appraised value of a condemned animal, and the salvage the owner receives from the slaughter house. In the event a condemned head is appraised at $100 and the salvage is $50, the state and federal funds will two-thirds of $100 or $63.65. With a salvage of $50 the owner will then have received $116.66 for the head condemned. This example has been explained to the herd owners, on the basis of an appraisal on a grade cow.

Old Peppersass Is Found Not Guilty

Boston, Aug. 26.—The stout old boiler of "Peppersass" has been absolved of all blame in the crash which attended its last climb up Mt. Washington July 20. The derailment of the oldest mountain climbing locomotive in the world, while making its farewell trip before mounting a pedestal for exhibition purposes, was due to a broken pinion shaft, the official investigation of the Boston and Maine Railroad reveals.

Blame for the crash was originally laid to the pot-bellied swinging boiler which was said to have exploded, causing the death of a newspaperman, and injuring several other passengers. The boiler, however, was later recovered below the railroad trestle intact and reports of an explosion disproved.

"Old Peppersass" will be restored, according to Boston and Maine officials, and presented to the state of New Hampshire as originally planned. The crash occurred while the old locomotive was descending Mt. Washington as one of the features of a ceremony celebrating its return to New Hampshire after an absence of over 35 years.

In its report the railroad investigating committee pointed out that aside from the crew of the locomotive all the remaining passengers on the tender had been riding without authority. The regular cog line which now ascends Mt. Washington has safety braking devices which preclude an accident such as wrecked "Old Peppersass."

Ottawa, Ill. — Veterans of the 129th infantry, crack World war military unit, one thousand strong, will relive battletorn days in France at their annual reunion here September 28 and 29. A parade, dedication of a memorial and a sham battle will feature the gathering.

How many times you see those two words in thecourse of a day's shopping: "This article for sale —as advertised."

And those two words are as welcome as they are familiar, for they form a bond of confidence between the merchant and yourself. They are his guarantee to you of worth and value.

Here is an article that has been described in your newspaper. Its merits have been told; possibly, too, its price. You know exactly what you will get when you buy it. You know its quality, its utility; you know how it fits into your needs. And when you buy it, you know you are getting, not some unproved substitute but the specified article — as represented.

It is easy to understand why that phrase, "as advertised," creates a feeling of confidence. You have learned to depend upon consistently advertised products. You know that the maker has confidence in them, else he would not spend money calling your attention to them day after day, and month after month. You know that they have been approved by the most critical of investigators—the buying public. And above all you know from experience that buying goods "as advertised" is the best investment you can make.

It pays to read the advertisements in The News

Connecticut Plans Road Safety Drive

Hartford, Aug. 26.—Engineers of the motor vehicle department of Connecticut are studying reported accidents with a view to eliminating many of the danger spots in the state's system of highways. Motorists are instructed regarding that mere naming of a place where an accident occurs is of little value unless the spot at which the accident occured is also given. Car drivers also are particular point on the highway must be described giving the distance to the nearest intersecting road or nearest house or building." With the information at hand engineers go wherever an accident has occured and check up the situation.

Connecticut has eliminated some detail work required of unfortunate motorists by doing away with accident reports where the damage is under twenty-five dollars. And from the questionnaires those questions most likely to be answered by false information have been erased, as have many that are considered unimportant.

"Smiling Eyes"

WEEK'S FEATURES

"Smiling Irish Eyes"; "Thunderbolt"; "Mr. Gangster"; "It Can Be Done", and "Two Men and a Maid."

These are the features scheduled by the State and Grand theaters for the undoubted approval of the city's screen fans during the week, probably the outstanding cinema week of the month.

Colleen Moore, vivacious lass of Erin, is starred in the production of Irish color, which is stamped by its producers as her greatest vehicle. It plays at the State three days, starting tonight, in conjunction with the all-talking comedy, "Whirls of Girls", Cartoon, News and Topics.

During the same three days, the Royal heralds the coming of William Collier's greatest picture, "Two Men and a Maid", a narrative of the life of a scorned English lover in the Colonial French Foreign Legion.

James Bancroft, who won great honors in "The Wolf of Wall Street", is again cast in another stellar talking production, in "The Thunderbolt", at the State the latter three days of the week. "Mr. Gangster", from the great novel and magazine narrative of the same title, is at the Royal Thursday night only.

"SMILING IRISH EYES"

Enacting an appropriate role as a Romish little Irish girl of Killarney, Colleen Moore demonstrates her ability in talking pictures to the entire satisfaction of all in first local showing of "Smiling Irish Eyes."

Colleen sings several melodies during the unfolding of this Irish romance, among them "Smiling Irish Eyes", a love-ballad from which the production takes its name.

"TWO MEN AND A MAID"

"Two Men and a Maid," the Tiffany-Stahl Tiffany Time production showing today at the Royal Theatre, goes to Algeria to follow the adventurous romance of two members of the French Foreign Legion. One is an English gentleman who has had his ideal of womanhood rudely shattered; the other is a roughneck and a bully who hasn't a notion of what honor is and doesn't need one, for he is quite content to hold a mortgage by right of might, on the affections of one Rose, a cafe girl who is proud of her conquest of the native adjutant.

But Rose learns, when the Englishman responds to the power of her charms, that she had been loving without her heart, and when the heart is touched and the passion aroused, love is something beautiful and terrible — something that demands a sacrifice. It is through the nobility of this Rose of an Algerian gutter that the sensitive youth learns how really human he is, err and how to divine to forgive.

The Englishman is played by William Collier, Jr., the girl by Alma Bennett, and Eddie Gribbon is the pal, with George E. Stone and Margaret Quimby also playing important roles.

"Final Offer" Made By British Diplomat

The Hague, Aug. 26.—What is described as absolutely the "final offer" of the former allied nations to meet the demands of Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, for additional reparations payments from Germany over those provided for in the Young plan, was delivered to the British delegation today.

The offer was presented to Snowden by Premier Henri Jaspar of Belgium. It was in written form, and was said to meet fully sixty per cent of Snowden's demands.

The British chancellor is expected to reply to the offer in writing.

"Alley Apples" Fly Fast In Battle

Pomeroy, O., Aug. 26.—Bricks flew fast and thick in Middleport, near here, last night and today five persons are in jail, all nursing bruised heads, bodies, arms and legs.

Police described the affair as one of the bloodiest fights in the history of the county.

The conflict started when George and May Siders, husband an wife, took exception to remarks made by Lee Smothers, Howard Jackson, and Mary Lewis, all colored.

The old brick pavement of Middleport is being torn up and this "ammunition" was stack nearby.

When the melee started, Middleport police were called but the "alley apples" were flying so thick and fast that the police there had to call the sheriff and county deputies to subdue the participants.

Painfully injured, all were arrested.
